

February 7, 2002

Conexant Will Highlight Wireless Communications Products at the 3GSM World Congress Trade Show

CONEXANT SYSTEMS, INC.
MEDIA ADVISORY

Who: Conexant Systems, Inc. (Nasdaq: CNXT) a worldwide leader in semiconductor system solutions for communications applications, will highlight wireless communications products at the 3GSM World Congress trade show.

Attention: Editors covering the 3GSM World Congress, Cannes, France

What: Product and company update for editors and industry analysts.

Other Facts: Wireless communications products include components, subsystems and system-level semiconductor solutions for wireless voice and data communications applications, including digital cellular handsets and base stations, as well as advanced mobile terminals that support next-generation multimedia and high-speed web browsing.

Today, Conexant boasts the most complete and flexible system solution for multi-band, multi-mode GSM/GPRS applications by offering all of the hardware and software required to build a state-of-the-art GSM handset.

Contact: To schedule a meeting or receive a product update, contact Angelina Lopez at 949-483-6775 or angelina.lopez@conexant.com.