Skyworks Welcomes Governor of Baja California; Dignitaries to Meet with Skyworks' Executives in Irvine, Calif.

WOBURN, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 25, 2005--Skyworks Solutions, Inc. (NASDAQ:SWKS), the industry's leading wireless semiconductor company focused on radio frequency (RF) and complete cellular system solutions for mobile communications applications, announced that it will host a visit today from the Governor of Baja California, Eugenio Elorduy, as he tours California. Governor Elorduy will meet with Skyworks' executives at the company's offices and engineering facilities in Irvine, Calif., primarily to thank the company for its investment in Baja California and to discuss future needs. Skyworks owns and operates an assembly and test facility in Mexicali, Mexico, which employs approximately 2,000 people and produces more than 800 million wireless semiconductor solutions per year.

"Skyworks is honored to meet with Governor Elorduy as his travels bring him to California," said Karl E. Mentzel, vice president of operations at Skyworks. "Part of our success in Mexicali over the last 30 years has been the direct result of the cooperation and support we have received from the various government agencies. Today, Skyworks enjoys significant competitive advantages in serving the world's leading wireless handset and infrastructure suppliers because of its world-class manufacturing facility."

"I am delighted to have this opportunity to thank Skyworks for their longstanding investment in Baja California," said Governor Elorduy. "As a key contributor to the diversity of the goods and services that Mexico provides to global markets, we look forward to strengthening our relationship with Skyworks and supporting their requirements in the years ahead."

In January 2004, Skyworks was presented with Mexico's prestigious National Export Award by President Vicente Fox in the maquiladora category, which recognized the company's best-in-class module manufacturing and test facility operations in Mexicali. In June 2004, Karl Mentzel was named Mexicali's Executive of the Year, for business leadership and community service.
